The Answer of the Revd ~~Dean~~ Isaac Goldsmith Dean of the Cathedral Church of St Colemans Cloyne
The Revd the Chapter of the same by Title of Canon of the Revd Denis Cannon

The Defts do admit that the Pltff was inducted by the Bishop of Clonmele & Templerobin in Great Island in Pltff by Title of Vicar of Clonmele & Rector of Templerobin, but these Defts deny that any third fish to be in said Great Island known by name of Kilgarvan, that upon search caused to be made by them in the Register Office of the Diocese of Cloyne they are informed by the Registr & do believe that there is no such fish as Kilgarvan named in the Visitn Books of Oldest Date in the Office, but the Bishops of Clonmele & Templerobin are constantly mentioned, & the Rectory of Clonmele also constantly mentioned to belong to the Deanery or Dean & Chapter of St Colemans Cloyne, that these Defts never heard of any such fish as Kilgarvan in said great Island until mentioned by the Pltff, that if ever there was such a fish deny that it was subnexed to the Bishop of Templerobin ~~but believe it was subnexed to~~ ~~a Prebend of the fish of Clonmele~~ or that it was enjoyed by Pltffs Predecessors Incumbents of Templerobin or any of them as subnexed to Templerobin either before or since the said fishes of Clonmele & Templerobin were United; Defts believe that Pltff might have been informed by the Revd Wm Fulton his mediate Predecessor that he was liable to pay a Rent of 20s a year to the Defts or for the Glebe & Two thirds of the Tythes of said Parish
