A dispute has arisen as to the value of William Gaule's Interest. & a Suit in Chancery has followed it & the value of the Interest must of course be determined by the amount of charges on it

We allege that independant of the yearly Rent these 200 acres formerly held by Richard Aylward are chargeable with £7. 8. 8 Tythe Rent charge and if the Apportionment Book bears out that allegation the Certificate will be useful —

The entire Farm land is calculated at 600 acres (but perhaps the Lands of Coolmaunidden & Coolmore are included in that calculation and I think that Richard Aylwards' have included a part of the last named Lands but if the Composition of the entire is as stated by your Letter only £11.0.3 (from which one fourth is to be deducted) I fear you can do us no good.

I need not tele you that any certificate which does not shew plainly what we require will not be of use and from the foregoing Information you can perhaps judge what we require

Dear

Very faithfully
