Both seem to be endowed with the Rectorial Tithes of the Parish of Fahan purchased by Bishop King and granted to the Parish as an Endowment. I think these tithes constitute a "private endowment", that the portion of them which belong to Upper Fahan vests absolutely in the Commrs on the 1 Jan '71 and form portion of the Consideration for which the £500,000 is paid under the 29 Sec of the Irish Church Act - but that the tithes of Lower Fahan being the private endowment of a perpetual Curacy is untouched by the Act under the 70th section.

I had to procure copies of the Deed of 1794 which I send with the other papers
