

appears to me, that no means except those adopted by Mr Lyndon the Agent for Lord Onslow (for which see Mr John Hunt's letter of 22nd February 1854) can be now taken Viz: by mutual agreement with the several Proprietors to apportion among them the amount of the rent Charge of the Commons in the proportion of their respective allotments -

I fear however that this could not be carried ~~and even if it were carried out~~ out, in the case of a subsequent refusal for payment, I am not sure that it could be enforced under such an agreement -

I beg to report that the fullest possible enquiry on the subject appears to have been made by Mr Knose in 1849 and a report made, but even that was valueless for the names and quantities given by Mr Knose could not be identified with those given in the allotment Book - I have &c
